2. a.

when n is smaller, the result would be more discrete, and when n is larger, the result would be more concentrate,

but they share similar mean.

b.

as the number of points gets larger, the accuracy of the area would increase and form a eclipse